

“Applying GLP Fundamentals for QA & Contract Field Researchers”

Tuesday, January 19, 2010

1:00 p.m. – 5:00 p.m.

A highly interactive and focused course designed to get you “thinking GLP” for maximum effectiveness. You’ll learn how to educate yourself, to teach instead of argue, and to be fully prepared whether you’re the QA officer or the one being inspected. Who should attend? Take a look at some comments from QA and Researchers attending the 2009 annual meeting:

“I’m new and don’t understand the roles and how they interact .”

“How do you vary your auditing approach based on study type?

Or do you ?”

“How do I respond to specific QA findings or comments?”

Sound familiar?

Do you know the definitions and have your GLP booklet in hand, but aren’t very confident that you can apply these in a variety of settings? Do you want to know what QA and the EPA really expect? Do you want to get more out of Thursday and Friday’s presentations—or make sure your employees do?

In Orlando, you have the opportunity to attend a new training session entitled “Applying GLP Fundamentals for Quality Assurance & Contract Field Researchers.”

Learn from actual EPA inspection results, increase GLP mastery using practical examples, and gain many tools, tips and tactics needed to grow a quality system.
